“ Our website hadn't been updated in many years and our old website company wanted to charge us almost 6 Figures to rebuild it. They said that was the only option. Sixberry Solutions came in and migrated and updated our site for a fraction of the cost and did what the other company said couldn't be done. I'm glad they are my new team.

“

The communication and attention to detail has been top notch! Sixberry Solutions has gone above and beyond with all of the projects we have given them! Working with multiple different platforms & complex marketing plans-there has not been a project that they can not complete for us. I can not recommend them enough ★

JUST OWN YOU

“As I am a mom coach and I love to serve in that capacity, my time is best spent doing that. The virtual side of things is not my strength, to say the least, and I have loved working with them. Sixberry Solutions has been so amazing, constantly serving me with summits, landing pages, with my webinars, making sure my contacts and emails and flow is just smoothly run. They are very efficient, timely, and they have great communication back and forth so that I always know what's going on and I'm always able to contact them. It has been a wonderful experience for me and my business.

Goal

The client is extremely busy with a dozen plus events every year. Our goal was to manage the technical needs of his event to ensure they would run successfully.

Objectives

Build landing pages for event registrations

Influence WITH A HEART®

“As a crazy busy solo entrepreneur, I know I can't do it all. I put on over a dozen events each year and really needed the support with my CRM, creating event graphics, building landing pages and promoting on social media. That's why I hired Sixberry solutions who knows a variety of platforms and are well skilled at using them. They kept me on track and moving forward through a very busy growth period in my business. They have been fantastic to work with.”

Goal

Design and build a website for group coaching services to support current clients and attract new clients

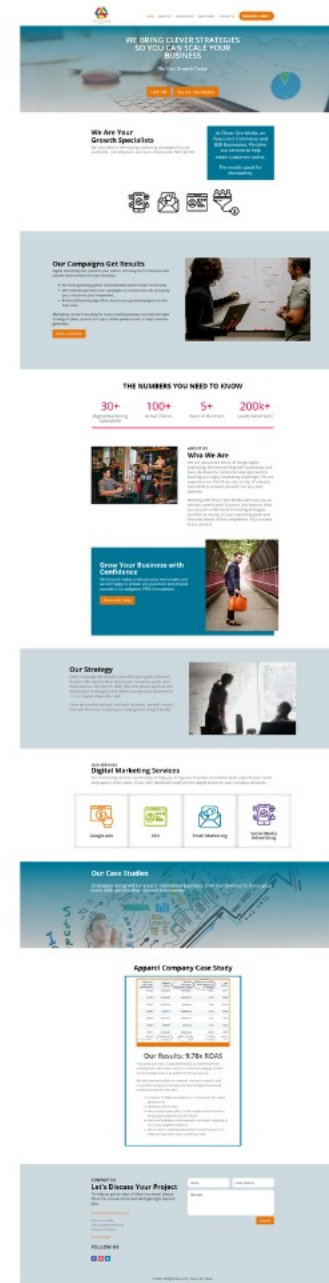

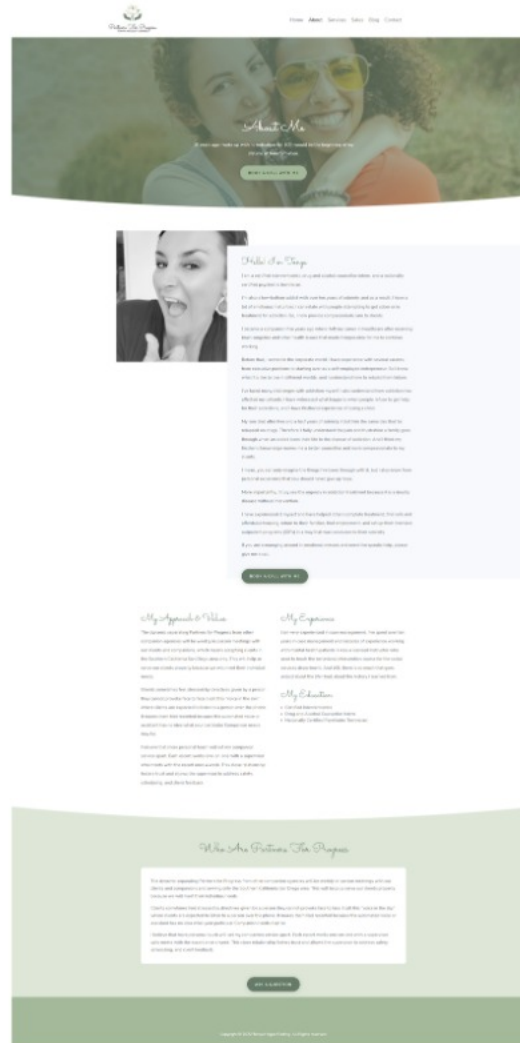

“ When I started my business I knew the value of having a well-designed website available for leads and current clients was important. Since I am not tech savvy at all, I needed someone who could create an on-brand site that attracted my ideal clients and encouraged them to purchase from me. Within a few days, my site was up and running. Sixberry Solutions was so great at communicating with me about what I liked and didn't like, what I needed and didn't need, and worked quickly when I suggested changes be made. I appreciated their professional feedback and expertise! I would highly recommend them for up and coming business owners who would rather spend their precious time in their business!
